The Only Foam-in-Bag Packaging Partner You'll Ever Need

IntelliPack understands the packaging performance pressures and economic concerns you face each day. That's why we encourage you to look at your packaging options. Getting smart about foam-in-bag technologies, supplies and service will enable you to select the system best designed to package your product.

There are two fundamental systems, a foam-in-bag machine and a handheld foam-in-place dispenser, with a number of possible configurations.

IntelliPack devoted several years and millions of dollars to the development of its SmartBAGGER™ machine and SmartAIM™ handheld technology and equipment. They designed the foam-in-bag and foam-in-place systems from the operator's point of view with a focus on safety, ease of operation and die-hard performance.

- User-friendly controls
- Long-lasting mixing module
- Ergonomic design
- Adjustable height
- Reliable, maintenance-free tip cleaning system
- Safety interlocks standard

Although IntelliPack is a new company, its team of engineers, sales representatives and service technicians bring more than 150-years direct foam-in-place experience to every customer visit. The company's four senior managers each apply 15+ years of engineering, design or formulation expertise – further supporting IntelliPack's commitment to provide your business with robust equipment and quality service.

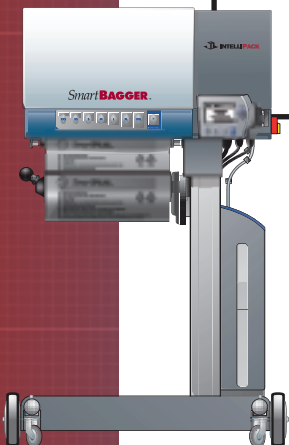

- Immediate service dispatch
- 24-hour response time
- Dedicated account representatives
- Sales and service team strategically located to support installed base
- Daily equipment monitoring via Internet
- On-site training
- Package design and testing

IntelliPack's SmartBAGGER machine and SmartAIM handheld dispensing systems are proven to produce high-quality packaging foam with every shot. But you don't have to take our word for it – compare your options and let the facts decide for you.
